Why city status?

We all know that Luton is a great place to live. It is a vibrant multi-cultural town with a warm heart that has welcomed generations of new people who have made their home here. People continue to bring their interesting histories to make Luton what it is today.

We are one of the largest and fastest growing towns in Britain, and we have the opportunity to compete to win city status as part of the celebrations to mark the 60th anniversary of the Queen's reign.

Being a city would bring Luton lots of kudos, but more than that it would bring high quality jobs and investment. One of the last towns that was granted the status of a city was Sunderland which experienced an upsurge in business confidence creating around 30,000 new jobs and £5 billion of inward investment.

With Luton's proximity to London and outstanding transport links by road, rail and air, we would stand to gain even more.

We want to put Luton on the map and open the new city up to international opportunities.

There have recently been £4 billion of improvements around Luton, including the award-winning St George's Square, the extension to The Mall, Butterfield Business Park and the Luton Hilton Hotel. The Luton Gateway and Station Square is now taking shape and future developments include Power Court and Napier Park. Luton has also seen the relocation of Northern & Shell print works (owners of the Express Newspapers and Channel 5) to Luton which could see up to a further 900 jobs on the site.

We have recently secured in excess of £40m of Government funding for the Junction 10a road improvement scheme and the completion of the Inner Ring Road. These two vital road schemes will dramatically improve the offer in town, allowing for further investment and growth. It has already been proven that being a city gives greater esteem and is a consideration when international corporations are deciding where to locate. This can only enhance Luton's economy and create jobs.

Luton already operates like a city with more than 40% of our workforce employed actually living outside of the town.

The city bid campaign is enthusiastically backed by Luton's businesses, voluntary and community groups, as well as the Council. The Love Luton campaign is completely funded by the private sector sponsors who have invested more than £150,000.

Over the last year the campaign has received extensive press and broadcast coverage both local and national media. It has helped to turn around any negative perceptions and showcase Luton in a positive light. The campaign has also helped improve community cohesion in the borough and bring the people of Luton together as one voice to show their support for the town.

The story so far...

The Love Luton campaign has received in excess of £150,000 worth of media coverage in both local and national media. This has showcased Luton in a very positive light.

More than 15,000 people wear the badge. Taxis, shops and buses carry the logo.

Organisers have been overwhelmed by how the campaign has captured the imagination of people in Luton, and the positive response expressed at community events.

We are enormously proud of the energy that the Love Luton campaign has generated which would not have been possible without the active participation of Lutonians themselves. It has demonstrated how much people here do love their town and they want to change perceptions of it.

Since the initial campaign launch at Luton Hoo, which was supported by local schools, the Love Luton bid has run three successful competitions and played a prominent role at many community events including St George's Day, Take 3 4 Life, Luton International Carnival, One World Week, Lighting Up Luton and the official Christmas lantern parade.

And in just its first two weeks an e-petition calling for Luton to be granted city status was signed by more than 1,000 people, more than any other town in the competition.

Way forward

From 19 January for three weeks (Thursday to Saturday) you can meet the city status team in The Mall who can help you sign the e-petition and back Luton's bid.

The Love Luton campaign will be at Luton in Harmony's second birthday celebrations on Saturday 28 January from 12-3pm at the George Street entrance to the Town Hall.

Then we will be holding a Love Luton Diamond Jubilee celebration on Monday 4 and Tuesday 5 June when St George's Square hosts Luton's biggest street party along with food, stalls and entertainment. A full programme is being arranged. If you would like more information or want to take part, contact michele.smith@luton.gov.uk

Finally, don't forget the unique and exciting Love Luton 2012 Festival which promises to be one of the biggest events in Luton's long and proud history.

It all starts on Friday 6 July with school games in venues across Luton, followed by fringe events and a 10,000 capacity music concert in the evening.

Saturday 7 July sees more fringe plus Mela activities before another major evening concert. Sunday 8 July begins with the spectacular carnival parade, an eye-catching and breathtaking procession through the town centre, before the weekend's showcase event, the arrival of the Olympic Torch and an evening of ceremony and celebration.

The festival concludes on Monday 9 July as Luton says farewell to the Olympic Torch which continues on its way to London. Additional entertainment and activities will be taking place across the borough throughout the weekend, all aimed at residents of all tastes, cultures and ages.

Sweet treat taken away from flyer

A PASSENGER had his sweets confiscated by airport security over fears they could be mistaken for plastic explosives.

Mark Leverkus, 23, was all packed-up for a skiing trip to France when chocolate marzipan given to him as a Christmas present was taken by security without explanation at Luton Airport.

The 6ft 9ins trainee solicitor, of Woodcote, Putnoe, Bedford, then texted his mother Carol joking that security checks were now tackling obesity at the airport.

Mrs Leverkus said: "I've heard of liquids being banned but not confectionery.

"I think he was a bit disappointed they were taken off him.

"I understand it's a security issue and safety is a must but I wasn't aware you couldn't pack confectionery in your hand luggage."

The Department for Transport said it has liquid restrictions in place but confectionery restrictions are a decision down to individual airports.

A airport spokesman said: "We cannot comment on specific cases, but in the past marzipan has been flagged up as one of those items which can resemble plastic explosives, such as sentex.

"With any items of concern, security officers are entitled to ask passengers to surrender it, and that may have been the case in this instance."

Sham marriage man given cash to quit UK

EXCLUSIVE

BY LUI STRACCIA

lui.straccia@lutononsunday.co.uk

AN ILLEGAL immigrant and sham marriage ringleader was given £1,500 of taxpayers' money to leave prison early and be deported from the UK - and used the money to set up a visa agency in Pakistan.

Ashar Ali Rathore, formerly of Luton, was paid as part of a Government support scheme for foreign nationals as an 'incentive for prisoners to cooperate with returning at the earliest opportunity'.

The idea is that the 'majority' of the money given to Rathore - who faked a relationship with a Polish immigrant to gain long-term residency - 'should be spent on reintegration' in Pakistan.

And a Luton on Sunday investigation has discovered that Rathore - who was deported last July - is offering to provide UK passports, driving licences and National Insurance cards to Pakistan nationals at his new business in Kotli, Azad Kashmir.

During their illegal stay in Luton, Rathore and his real wife, Nadia Qadri, were jailed for conspiring to breach immigration law.

Rathore was deported last July under the Facilitated Returns Scheme, which enables the UK Border Agency (UKBA) to encourage foreign national prisoners to leave the country before their jail terms are fully served. He received the maximum payment of £1,500 as part of that process.

Jonathan Isaby, political director of the TaxPayers' Alliance, said: "Taxpayers will be appalled to learn that £1,500 of their hard-earned money was used to give a convicted prisoner this sick 'golden goodbye' prior to his deportation. When all of us are having to tighten our belts and watch every penny, pay-offs for fraudsters like Rathore at British taxpayers' expense are an utter disgrace."

Turn to pages 2 and 3 for more on the LoS investigation into Rathore's business in Pakistan - and we also reveal which Luton councillor is being investigated by the Labour Party for not disclosing her connection to Rathore before being selected as a candidate for last year's local elections.

'Golden handshake' the driving licence

EXCLUSIVE

BY LUI STRACCIA
lui.straccia@lutononsunday.co.uk

HAVING been given a £1,500 'golden handshake' by the UK Government to spend less time in prison and be deported, a former sham marriage ringleader is now welcoming customers into his new visa agency office.

Despite committing his crime while being an illegal immigrant in the UK, fraudster Ashar Ali Rathore has launched a business in Kotli, Azad Kashmir, offering to obtain UK passports, driving licences and National Insurance cards.

The Luton sham marriage ring set up by Rathore, 33, involved him and his real wife, Nadia Qadri, 34 - who were in the UK on student visas - faking relationships with two Polish people to gain long-term residency.

To support their applications, Rathore and Qadri submitted fraudulent documents including fake lease agreements and council tax and utility bills.

They were arrested at their home in Cornell Close, where officers recovered around £16,300 in cash and bank receipts showing large amounts of money had been paid into the accounts of their fake partners.

Qadri's brother, Zafar Rathore, left the UK in November 2010 but is wanted by the UKBA on suspicion of conspiracy to facilitate a breach of immigration rules in connection with an alleged bogus relationship with Izabela Glazowska, of Green Court, Luton, who was last year convicted of the same offence.

Ashar Ali was deported in July under the Facilitated Returns Scheme, which enables the UK Border Agency (UKBA) to remove foreign national prisoners before they would normally be eligible for release.

Rathore received £1,500 as part of that process, and has used the money to set up his new 'Xpress Solutions' visa agency in Kotli.

TaxPayers' Alliance spokesman Jonathan Isaby said: "Ministers must urgently review the operation of the Facilitated Returns Scheme to ensure that we are not being taken for a ride.

"At the same time, the British police should do all they can to assist the local authorities in Azad Kashmir in establishing the legitimacy of Rathore's new enterprise.

"Luton on Sunday deserves great credit for

with brother-in-law Zafar
Subhani, aka Zafar Rathore

uncovering this and bringing it to the public's attention." A UKBA spokesman said: "The scheme saves the taxpayer the cost of keeping foreign national prisoners in prison and denies them the opportunity to re-offend.

"It should be noted that, as part of our investigation that resulted in Rathore's conviction, more than £16,000 in cash was seized from his address under the Proceeds of Crime Act. This has subsequently been returned to the public purse.

"Nadia Qadri voluntarily departed so did not receive any money under the scheme."

A YouTube video of the launch of Rathore's new office in Kotli shows a large poster on the wall featuring pictures of UK driving licences, passports of various nationalities, a UK National Insurance Number card and an England and Wales Cricket Board (ECB) logo, which has been used without permission.

Rathore's office also features signs in Urdu saying: 'Immigration Appeals', 'Income Tax', 'Passports & ID Cards', 'Mortgages & Property', 'Registering Power of Attorney', 'Legal Paperwork/Statements', 'National and International College/University Admissions', 'Any Legal Disputes' and, bizarrely, 'Any Enquiry Related to the Laws of Cricket'.

Having been alerted to the misuse of its logo by Luton on Sunday, the ECB said in a statement: "He does not have our permission to use either the Association of Cricket Officials or ECB logos for commercial or business purposes and we thank Luton on Sunday for bringing this to our attention.

"We will investigate whether the logos are being used improperly."

A UKBA spokesman added: "At the British High Commission in Islamabad, Pakistan, the UKBA subjects all applications for visas to come to the UK to the same rigorous checks, which include checks against international watchlists. In addition, all visa applicants are required to give their bio-metrics (fingerprints).

"Staff receive forgery and detection training and there are tough penalties for the submission of false documents and information.

"Anyone doing so will not only have their visa application refused, but also face a ban of up to ten years on future visa applications."

Labour probes 'close ties' silence of party member

EXCLUSIVE

THE Labour Party is investigating one of its councillors for not disclosing her family relationships to sham marriage ringleader Ashar Ali Rathore and mortgage and benefits fraudsters in the run-up to last year's local elections.

Luton councillor Asma Rathore is the cousin of illegal immigrant Ashar Ali, and also the sister of Shagufta Siddique who, along with her husband Ahmed Siddique, was in 2009 convicted of obtaining more than £160,000 through fraudulent activities.

A simple 192.com search reveals that Ashar Ali, his illegal immigrant wife Nadia Qadri and Ahmed Siddique have at some time been registered at the same Selbourne Road address at which Saints ward Cllr Rathore currently lives.

While Cllr Rathore had categorically no involvement in her relatives' crimes, the Labour Party has launched an inquiry because she did not disclose, when asked of any issues which could cause potential embarrassment to the party, her close ties to criminals during the process of her selection as a candidate for last year's Luton Borough Council elections. When LoS brought this information to the attention of the Labour Party, spokesman Francis Steer said: "We are shocked by these revelations which have been uncovered by LoS. "Although the crimes are not in any way related to Cllr Rathore, the Labour Party has set up an inquiry as such issues should have been made known to us at the time of her selection as a Labour Party candidate.

"Anyone standing for public office must ensure those close to them are beyond reproach."

The Siddiques were given suspended prison sentences for fraudulently claiming £10,628 in housing benefits and £3,695 in council tax benefits.

A Proceeds of Crime hearing at Luton Crown Court in 2010 revealed evidence that the couple had gained £162,205 through their illegal activities, which included buying a property in Leagrave Road through a fraudulently obtained mortgage.

Following a court order, repayments totalling £26,695 were made by the Siddiques to Luton Borough Council.

Cllr Rathore did not return any of our calls or emails.

LUTON on Sunday staff collected top accolades at a prestigious awards ceremony.

More than 200 people representing some 20 publications across parent company Iltf News and Media (Central) saw LoS and sister paper Luton & Dunstable Express receive two editorial honours.

Around 300 people entered the awards and competition was fierce.

LoS photographer Keiron Hillhouse's 'picture of hate' from an EDL march in Luton earned him news photograph of the year, while reporter Sophie Scott's coverage of an armed stand-off with police helped secure the front page of the year award for the LD Express. Hillhouse was also shortlisted as an 'unsung hero', while LoS news editor Lui Straccia was runner-up in scoop of the year.

The event, backed by major sponsor Altodigital Ltd, took place in Milton Keynes.

Tutor may face legal rap for trial research

BY JULIA SUTTON
editor@snmedia.co.uk

SENIOR judges are deciding whether a juror who carried out internet research at home during a criminal trial was in contempt of court.

University of Bedfordshire lecturer Theodora Dallas, 34, appeared before the High Court on Thursday after Government legal advisers launched contempt proceedings.

Three judges heard how Dr Dallas had told other jurors what her research had revealed about a defendant on trial at Luton Crown Court in July 2011.

Attorney General Dominic Grieve QC told Lord Judge, Lady Justice Hallett, and Mr Justice Openshaw that Dr Dallas had impeded the administration of justice and was in contempt.

He said a judge had aborted the trial after learning about her research.

But Dr Dallas, a psychology lecturer at the university which has its main campus in Luton, told the judges she had "no intention" to "influence" the jury.

She said she had not "deliberately" ignored instructions but had "misunderstood" the trial judge's directions.

Mr Grieve, the Government's chief legal adviser, told the court that a defendant called Barry Medlock had been on trial at Luton in July last year accused of causing grievous bodily harm with intent.

He said jurors had been told by the trial judge to base decisions on the evidence and warned them not to use the internet or discuss the case with others.

However, Dr Dallas carried out internet research while jurors were deliberating their verdict and revealed that Medlock had previously been accused, and acquitted, of rape - information not given during the trial.

Dr Dallas said she had been checking the meaning of grievous bodily harm on the internet. She had added the word "Luton" to a search and that search had then produced a newspaper report which mentioned Medlock and the previous rape allegation.

Dr Dallas said in a written witness statement given to judges that: "Sometimes my grasp of English is not that good.

"I did not understand that I could make no search on the internet. I never thought it would cause such disruption."

The judges reserved judgment and said they aimed to deliver their ruling this week.

Police probe 'suspicious' blaze

A FIRE which started in the first floor of a vacant building is being treated as suspicious by police.

Firefighters received a call to the blaze at a property in Windsor Road at around 1.50am on Thursday.

The first floor flat was above empty business

La Sheesh, which was previously The Farley Arms pub.

The result of an initial investigation has suggested that the blaze was started deliberately.

Anyone with information can contact Bedfordshire Police on 101.

Man's shop robbery charges

A MAN has been charged with the robberies and attempted robberies of supermarkets.

Westleigh Brimble, 34, of Marsh Road, Luton, was arrested and charged with the robberies of the Co-operative Store in High Street, Houghton

Regis, on January 10, the Co-operative Store in Farley Hill, Luton, on January 15 and the attempted robbery of a Tesco in Houghton Regis on January 10.

Brimble appeared before Luton Magistrates' Court on Thursday and was remanded into custody.

Illegal parkers fall foul of council's CCTV cars

Cllr Brian Spurr meeting the CCTV vehicle crew

IN just 11 days cars armed with CCTV to catch illegally parked vehicles nabbed more than 300.

The scheme, which was launched in November, caught 326 drivers this month as it clamps down on loading restrictions, parking on yellow lines and outside schools.

In its first month in December 100 people were found to be parking illegally.

It works by taking a wider area image of a street and collecting the registration numbers of those vehicles parked illegally.

At Central Bedfordshire Council's meeting on Thursday night, Cllr Nigel Long explained to members how the scheme has been going.

The council bought three cars for £165,000. A fine can bring in between £25-£70, depending on when it is paid.

He said that there were a number of people who had been caught on consecutive days. Including one driver in High Street South, Dunstable, who was caught on double yellow lines, then moved round the corner and again parked on more double yellow lines. He was ticketed twice.

Taxpayers fail to cough-up £17.3m

BY SOPHIE SCOTT

sophie.scott@lutononsunday.co.uk

MORE than 20 per cent of Luton residents failed to pay their council tax in the past financial year.

And as a result Luton Borough Council has issued almost 13,000 summonses to people who have failed to hand over the tax. In the town, 60,555 households are required to make payments.

When residents are taken to court, not only will they be ordered to pay the outstanding bill but also any prosecution costs.

Statistics also show that since 1993, householders have not paid £17.3 million to Luton Borough Council and many have moved away still owing the debt. More than £11m of the total sum is owed by people who have left, while the rest is on a 'long-term' repayment plan by those who still live in their house.

A Town Hall spokeswoman said: "These arrears date back to 1993 and are mainly owed by people who have moved out of the area or died."

"The council has a team dedicated solely to collecting older debt which, for obvious reasons, is very difficult to trace and recover. Only around ten per cent of the arrears are owed by current residents. In the past three years, the council has increased its collection rate from 93.8 per cent to 96 per cent - the highest ever recovery rate for Luton.

"The report discussed by the Executive on December 12 says that while efforts must be made to collect unpaid tax, the council does not wish to target those who genuinely cannot pay and need support.

"However, we will prosecute anyone for non payment who can pay but won't, and have done so."

Hospital parking has 500-space shortfall

BY SOPHIE SCOTT

sophie.scott@lutononsunday.co.uk

FIVE hundred car parking spaces need to be found to cope with traffic pressures around a hospital.

And now Luton & Dunstable Hospital is considering giving staff with the most need permits to access on-site parking at a charge of between £200 and £720 a year, dependant on salary.

The hospital estimates that the shortfall in spaces equates to 300 for staff and 200 for patients.

A car park deck which will create 80 spots on Farrington Fields will be completed in the summer and negotiations are going on to use 100 spaces at Mecca Bingo in Skimpot Road, Luton.

Other options to alleviate problems include working on a 'Travel Plan' to encourage staff to use other means to get to work, by public transport or car-sharing, giving 'real-time' bus information in the main reception – although funding is required – and creating more cycle parking.

David Carter, L&D's managing director, said: "By reducing the number of staff using their car to come to work we can help to ensure that we have adequate parking capacity for patients, visitors and staff.

"No decisions have been made – we are currently consulting with staff about the proposed permit scheme.

"The hospital is also reviewing the provision of car parking on-site and off-site in light of future planned clinical service development."

Crazy council expenditure

SIR - Luton Borough Council has well and truly overstepped the mark this time by spending £250,000 for music groups to perform at Popes Meadow prior to the arrival of the Olympic Torch passing through the town (Letters, January 15).

In view of its recent closures of council-run care homes and cuts in street-cleaning services, it is both a shallow, stupid and insensitive act to say the least.

I sincerely hope the 'specialist lawyer' hired by the families fighting the recently announced closure of the Laurels (a council-run care home for the elderly frail/dementia sufferers) cites this misappropriation and abuse of public funds to support her worthy case.

This act of folly by the council should surely be a wake-up call for the voting electorate of Luton, for what we are witnessing is called 'divestment'.

Quite simply that is the stripping of community assets and an end to essential functions like council-run care homes for the elderly frail and street cleaning services.

Not surprisingly this may well be the tip of the iceberg as other essential community assets such as day care for the elderly/vulnerable are lined up for either closure or removal to totally unsuitable environments.

No doubt this process of 'divestment' will be accompanied by the equally dubious use of the so-called 'public consultation' which the families and carers involved in the council run care home closures could see was a 'transparent farce'.

What is very evident is that the so called necessary savings of public monies are more than likely to be circumvented to pay for pleasurable events and local organisations that are not providing an essential public service.

I am literally scratching my head to understand why we, the voting public, are paying the salaries of elected local councillors, highly paid council officers, and external so called experts/consultants.

For the latter are setting a course to manage a council which will have very few council-provided services left to run; but sees fit to pay out large sums of money to assist the

How about some good news?

SIR - I read Luton on Sunday on a regular basis and I am dismayed, saddened and angered by your negative portrayal of our busy Luton & Dunstable Hospital.

It's rare to hear in your newspaper about all the lives saved, grateful happy patients and dedicated hard-working staff going above and beyond the call of duty.

We are all aware of the stress that the NHS is under and like most large businesses errors can occur and mistakes are made - but they are rare events.

It seems every week your publication manages to find negative stories most of which in my opinion do little more than to make a bad situation worse. I wonder if your newspaper is trying to close down the hospital.

Your constant criticism is demoralising to staff and patients alike and it is, in my opinion unjustified.

I know the philosophy that bad news sells but your paper is free. How about a few more positive stories about the good work carried out by the dedicated staff at the L&D?

running of a pop concert? Incidentally I am a great music lover from jazz and the blues through to classical works.

If I choose to go to a live music performance I have to dip into my own purse.

Public money should be directed at essential public services.

Questioning this cost

SIR - With reference to John Young's letter last week I strongly agree. Providing for this event comes at the cost of other local amenities.

Only this week the council announced that two care homes are to be closed.

And in November the council made a decision to increase allotment rents and abolish the 50 per cent concessions given to the over-60s.

They could save money by not hiring 52-seater coaches to take five members of the planning committee to view a planning application which took 30 minutes while the driver sat in the coach and waited for them.

Doesn't the council have its own minibuses which could have taken them?

Music support is wrong

SIR - With reference to John Young's letter which featured under the heading 'No role for council to provide musicians' in last Sunday's edition of Luton on Sunday, I wish to express, in the strongest possible terms, my total support and full agreement with his view.

I totally concur with Mr Young that Luton Borough Council should not be spending council taxpayers' money in this manner - sponsoring music groups while cutting essential services such as street cleaning and care homes.

Allen Fisher
Turnpike Drive, Luton

I'm beeping furious

SIR - Why do so many people misuse their car horns? Don't they know that the only lawful purpose of them is 'to give audible warning of approach'?

That means they should not be used simply to announce 'your lift has arrived'. Nor should they be used by drivers to say 'Hi' to their mates.

Don't they realise that everyone else in the neighbourhood is disturbed by their exuberance?

If not, then I suggest they are probably not intelligent enough to be in charge of a motor vehicle in the first place. Alternatively, if they are aware, they presumably don't care about other people - in which case they could be considered sociopaths. So again, should they be driving at all?

Finally, the worst of all are those who use their horns to show impatience or, worse still, their anger.

If people really can't control their frustrations and bad temper when they're behind the wheel then they shouldn't be allowed anywhere near the controls of such a lethal piece of machinery.

Manufacturers could help in two ways. First, using modern electronics it would be a simple matter to disable the horn when the road wheels stop turning.

But more significantly they could disarm the bad-tempered drivers. Instead of fitting horns that blare loudly enough to wake the dead and only serve to startle and anger other road-users, why not replace them with ones that can only give out a polite 'toot-toot'?

This could even reduce 'road rage' incidents.

Claim OAPs' benefits

SIR - Recent research by Prudential has revealed that pension incomes are expected to hit a five-year low for people retiring this year, meaning that one in five will have to survive on less than £10,000 a year.

The recession has seen a fall in pension funds and annuity rates, which, when combined with inflation rises mean that thousands will struggle to make ends meet.

However, this isn't just a problem facing future pensioners.

Our own research reveals that today's pensioners are already struggling; yet many are not aware of the financial support available to them.

Two-thirds of pensioners on low incomes, who could be eligible for Pension Credit do not believe they qualify; yet a quarter of them struggle with bills, a third with housing costs and one in ten are forced to skip meals. The latest Government figures show that the amount of Pension Credit unclaimed annually was between £1.6bn and £2.9bn.

We would like to remind your readers of how important it is that pensioners are aware of their potential welfare benefits entitlement.

Pensioners have to deal with a terribly complicated benefits system, which often deters them from claiming much-needed funds.

Yet, it is easy to access the free Turn2us benefits calculator and establish entitlement, how much is available and where to claim - www.turn2us.org.uk

Council allowances to be kept at same level

BY LAUREN ARCHELL

lauren.archell@lutononsunday.co.uk

MEMBERS of Luton Borough Council will continue to receive a minimum of £7,500 a year in allowances.

The authority met on Tuesday to discuss the recommendations made in a report by the Independent Panel of Members' Allowances.

The document suggested that there should be no increase in pay for 2012/2013 but that 'it would be inappropriate to recommend an arbitrary reduction in the basic allowance'. Without much discussion the majority of the councillors accepted the report, with only Liberal Democrat representatives abstaining from the vote.

Lib Dem leader Councillor David Franks said: "I have to point out that the Liberal Democrats are not actively supporting the motion."

"To do so would support the pay increase Hazel Simmons gave herself when appointed leader of the council, and we don't."

As a result, the basic allowance paid to all council members will remain unchanged at £7,500.

The panel recommended that Luton Borough Council's executive leader, Cllr Hazel Simmons, continue to receive an additional £15,000, while executive members with portfolio would receive £5,625 on top of the basic allowance.

The payment of a Dependent Carer's and Childcare Allowance will also remain at a rate of up to £7 per hour.

The council also agreed to 52.2p a mile travel expenses.

Police election due in November

AN election date has been set for the new role of Police and Crime Commissioner.

Votes will be taken on Thursday, November 15, with the elected individual expected to be in the role by November 22.

The Police and Crime Commissioner will replace the current Police Authority and take on responsibilities including setting the priorities for the force, holding the Chief Constable to account, and setting the budget.

Police authority vice-chairman, Linda Hockey (left) said: "This will be a radical departure from the current system but is just one of a number of significant changes that our police force is going through."

Couple tied up as gang raid home

BY LUI STRACCIA

lui.straccia@lutononsunday.co.uk

BURGLARS stormed into a home before attacking the residents and stealing a safe, cash, jewellery and an Audi A4.

One of the victims, a 27-year-old, was watching TV at his parents' home in Common Road, Kensworth, with his wife when they heard the back door of the house open at 8.30pm on Monday.

One of the burglars rushed into the living room and assaulted the man, while four others began to demand gold, jewellery and cash.

The victims were forced upstairs and had their hands tied with a cable before the burglars - all white - left with the safe, money, Indian-style gold jewellery and the family's white Audi A4.

PC Sam Toombs said: "It is believed these people targeted the victims and it may be possible that members of the public may have noticed people acting suspiciously in the area in the days leading up to the incident."

"I would urge anyone with information about this crime to come forward, especially if they know the whereabouts of the white Audi car, registration number KM11 OSB."

Anyone with information about this crime can contact PC Toombs, in confidence, on 01582 473324, or Bedfordshire Police on 101.

One of the burglars is 5ft 5-5ft 7, with a medium build, wearing stone-washed pale blue jeans, a light grey hooded top and a white and grey camouflaged bandana to cover his mouth and nose.

Another has a very pale complexion, is more than 6ft, with a skinny build, wearing a dark scarf over his nose and mouth, a medium blue and white zipped shell suit jacket and light grey coloured jogging bottoms.

A third is 5ft 11ins with a stocky build and round face, wearing a black balaclava, a black Nike sweater and black jogging bottoms, while a fourth is 5ft 9ins wearing a black hooded top with dark bottoms and a black scarf covering his face.

EDL planning to revisit town

THE English Defence League has announced it is planning to take to the streets of Luton in March.

EDL leader Stephen Yaxley-Lennon said: "I hope there is not the scaremongering that there was last year from the council. We came and peacefully protested."

A police spokeswoman said: "We are in regular contact with Stephen Yaxley-Lennon and as and when further proposals are made we will then consider them."

A council spokeswoman said: "As far as we are aware, neither the council nor the police have been contacted by Tommy Robinson (Stephen Lennon) about a march."

Life was much more simple before we had all these gadgets

LAST week I was on Three Counties Radio discussing matters political. A question came up asking if we regretted the lack of mobile phones and social media in our youth.

I was alone in giving a resounding no.

I spent, or rather misspent, my youth without my parents knowing where I was half the time.

In fact when 15, my friend Vic and I told our parents each Saturday that we were staying at the other's house and it was 12 months before they found out we were staying out.

I also wandered off to France when 17 and never bothered to contact the family once.

No more is such freedom and irresponsibility on offer.

Last Saturday night our 19-year-old was out in town with some friends and his mum, the present Mrs Lowe, was innocently texting him after midnight to see if he had a key, whether he had remembered his scarf and not to forget to lock the door when he came home. Before asking when that might be.

Being told to remember their phone is the command every time he and his brother prepare to leave the house. And all the latest gadgets also have 'face-time' so you can't even lie about where you are.

There is an ad on TV at the moment, where some laddish bloke gets the pub he is in to keep quiet while he tells the girlfriend he is working late at the office.

'Show me', is more likely to be the response these days. 'And why have you got your 'face-time' switched off?'

And every piece of trivia these days is also considered worthy of mention to the world and beyond.

Many people cannot go to the lavatory without posting it on Facebook, obviously believing all their friends care.

Even worse some believe I care about the sleeping/waking times and bowel movements of their babies. I don't. I have spent many years living it and have no desire to relive it or any interest in others so doing.

I am grateful my mother has no computer or smart-phone or heaven knows what kind of messages I would be getting through the day as she sits shaking her stick at the TV, cursing every person to the left of Ghengis Khan and under 70 years old.

From September onwards I would receive daily messages asking if it is time to put the Brussel Sprouts on a low simmer for Christmas.

And, of course, even innocent pleasures can be misconstrued by Facebook, such as a peck on the cheek of that semi-naked office girl at the office party being posted up for all the world - and your wife - to see. And once it is there, it is there for eternity.

I am on Twitter and only use it when I feel there is something to say, which is, of course, completely wrong because it needs to be fed at least three times a day, whether there is anything to say or not.

It is undoubtedly the case that some people are safer because of mobile phones, particularly those using taxis.

But that sense of freedom and splendid isolation of the pre-digital world has disappeared for ever.

Going walkabout, like the Dodo, is dead.

Hitting the streets for royal knees-up

BY LAUREN ARCHELL
laurenarchell@lutononsunday.co.uk

A STREET party to celebrate the Queen's Diamond Jubilee will take place this summer.

The Love Luton Diamond Celebration will be a two-day event in St George's Square funded by local private sector businesses.

Taking place on the bank holiday days of Monday, June 4 and Tuesday, June 5 the party will incorporate the Luton International Food Festival, music concerts and fairground rides.

The theme of the event will be based loosely on how Luton has evolved over the past 60 years of the Queen's reign and celebrate the town's rich diversity and mix of cultures.

Linsey Frostick, chairwoman for the Love Luton working group, said: "There will be a lot of street parties happening across the country celebrating the Queen's Diamond Jubilee but we are confident that ours will be one of the biggest."

"Whatever the outcome of our city status bid next month, the Love Luton brand will remain strong and continue celebrating the success of the town and its people."

The food festival will take place on June 4 and will showcase the high standards and diversity of the food and culture available in Luton, including English, Thai, Polish, Indian, African Caribbean, Middle Eastern and Chinese.

Cllr Roy Davis said: "The food festival will give people a feel for the fantastic variety of food on offer at Luton's cafes and restaurants. I encourage local businesses to get in touch quickly to register their interest as spaces are limited."

For more information, or to register your interest in having a stand at the food festival, contact Michele Smith on email michele.smith@luton.gov.uk or by telephone 01582 54 62 65.

Uni is feeling the love

The University of Bedfordshire has been announced as the first sponsor of this summer's weekend event to celebrate the arrival of the Olympic Torch in Luton.

The Love Luton 2012 Festival is set to be one of the most spectacular occasions in the town's history, and the university will have its logo on all marketing material including print, press and outdoor advertising. Its Vice Chancellor Les Ebdon (pictured) said: "We are thrilled to be a key part of Luton's biggest ever event."

"We have strong links with our local area and the Love Luton campaign, and we are delighted to sponsor a festival which will celebrate diversity and bring so many people together."

Driver mistake led to M1 death crash

BY KATHRYN CAIN
editor@lsmmedia.com

A MAN was killed when his lorry smashed into a stationary HGV on the M1 after he 'misjudged' it to be on the hard shoulder.

The family of Idris Hunt, 49, disputed police evidence claiming that he had fallen asleep at the wheel when his vehicle ploughed into the back of a broken down lorry at 4.30am which was stopped in the left lane of the northbound carriageway on August 19.

At a coroner's inquest held in Bedford on Tuesday it was found that he had died of multiple traumatic bone and soft tissue injuries which he had sustained in the collision as he was not wearing a seat belt.

Police evidence suggested that Mr Hunt had become tired after driving through the night and in the moments before the crash he had begun to slow down gradually without breaking.

During the hearing however, his daughter disputed that he was falling asleep as he had taken a 23 minute break at Toddington Services only six minutes earlier.

The broken down lorry had been forced to stop in the left lane of the motorway between junction 12 for Toddington and 13 for Bedford after two of his trailer's rear tyres blew out. There was no hard shoulder due to roadworks.

He was not in his vehicle when the accident happened 20 minutes later as he had gone behind the crash barrier to call the police to tell them he had broken down and was arranging for someone to come and fix his tyres.

CCTV cameras recorded the smash after the Highways Agency was alerted to the accident.

Witnesses claim the hazard lights of the broken down lorry were clearly visible from at least 500 yards away and they expected Mr Hunt, from Tamworth in Staffordshire, to move out into the middle lane to avoid it.

Coroner David Morris said: "It seems strange that he would fall asleep as he had only just had a break. It is possible he may have misjudged it and thought the lorry was off the carriageway until it was too late.

"I have to record a verdict that he died from injuries sustained when his HGV collided with the rear of another which was stationary in the nearside lane of the northbound carriageway of the M1 on August 19."

YOU can pretty much guarantee that anyone you meet in the country will at least know Luton for one major thing - its airport.

And now the plan is to make it possible for it to take even more people off on their holidays in the coming years.

London Luton Airport Limited (LLAL) confirmed its intention at the beginning of the week to submit an application to Luton Borough Council which would see modifications made to the existing airport - without having to purchase more land - to increase capacity.

Changes would include the aircraft taxiways, aprons, piers and parking stands, the road network, airport car parking and the passenger terminal.

One of the major points of the proposal is that it will bring a massive 6,000 jobs to the town, both directly at the airport and indirectly in the town.

At a time when the country is still in economic crisis, if permission is granted it could see the town prosper, as Steve Heappey (pictured right) of LLAL explains.

He said: "The shareholders of LLAL are the people of the town. It is expected that £23 million worth of income comes from the airport into the town.

"That money is essential for services like the Citizen's Advice Bureau which are a real interest to local people. Without that money those services would be in jeopardy.

"It also funds infrastructure in the town. The Aquatic Centre in allow Luton to prosper

THIS week plans were announced to expand Luton Airport so it could take 18 million passengers per year - a scheme which could see an extra seven million pass through the town. SOPHIE SCOTT looks at the proposals and speaks to Steve Heapey, lead officer of London Luton Airport Limited (LLAL), which owns the airport on behalf of Luton Borough Council.

Stopsley [which is due to open in July] was made possible by the airport.

"The airport is one of the town's biggest employers, if not the biggest. These plans would create job opportunities for Luton and the surrounding region."

On Monday, Cllr Robin Harris, chairman of LLAL, said: "We're at the very beginning of a journey that builds on the tremendous success we have seen through the last decade and will ultimately bring huge benefits to Luton and the wider region - with jobs and much-needed income."

It is estimated that at the end of this financial year the airport will have handled almost ten million passengers. But in the next year figures put it at exceeding that milestone.

Last year the Department for Transport said in a report the airport would only handle 15 million by 2050, but Mr Heapey said considering its 'staggering' growth since 1998 it would be reasonable to expect that to reach 30 million.

While LLAL owns the airport, it is actually run by London Luton Airport Operations Ltd (LLAOL), which has a 30-year concession which lasts until 2028. However, LLAL could, if it chose, break that concession within the next two years.

Mr Heapey said: "There is always the chance that LLAOL could come up with their own proposals."

"No decision has yet been made to break the current concession. They have the chance to make proposals on how they will fund and develop it. We need to resolve the issue of what to do with their 16 years remaining."

"We could get a new concession, which could be LLAOL, over a much longer term that the airport now needs."

"If there were ways more airlines could travel at off-peak times passenger numbers would be significantly more than 11.5 million."

"If we don't get the additional capacity then the airport would start to stagnate. Airlines such as Wizz Air, which has grown phenomenally, and easyJet, have plans to grow even further and if they are not able to do that in Luton then they will go to other airports."

Hugh Aitken, commercial manager of Luton Airport-based airline easyJet, said: "The plan is an important step for the airport's long-term future which will enable us to continue making travel easier."

"However, we need continued focus now on improving access to the airport and the speed at which passengers can transit through it."

This week a project called 'futureLuToN:Optimisation' was introduced to the airport's consultative committee representing residents, councils and community groups.

If you want to find more information about the plans visit www.futureLuToN.co.uk from tomorrow.

Firms told 'go for it' with Retail Factor

LUTON on Sunday's Retail Factor competition is off the starter's block.

To encourage anyone looking to emulate last year's worthy winners, we are taking a look back at how Suzanne Gilmore and Amanda Turner from Love to be Charmed and Amanda Turner from Love to be Charmed have fared, having seen their business grow as a result of the free trading opportunity in The Mall.

Suzanne said: "When we entered the Retail Factor we were in our first year of business and largely selling our products to friends and family.

"At the time we had been looking at various ways of getting our product to market cost-effectively, as well as juggling our busy family life.

"We had constructed a website at the time, but, simply due to the nature of our product being personalised jewellery items, our customers tend to want to be able to take a closer look."

Amanda said: "Entry to the competition was so simple.

"I picked up a form from The Mall and filled in our company information, at no cost to us."

This year's Retail Factor winner is set to receive a start-up package worth £4,500; which includes two months' free trading space in The Mall and a £500 cash injection.

CHARMED:
Amanda Turner
and Suzanne Gilmore - 2011
winners of the Retail Factor

Amanda added: "The two months trading opportunity was invaluable to the growth of our business.

"Being situated in the middle of a busy shopping centre without having to pay any rent doesn't happen very often.

"The exposure for our business was extraordinary and has created continued repeat business for Love to Be Charmed."

Suzanne explained: "If you are a small start-up business and are thinking of entering the Retail Factor, then my advice would be to go for it.

"We never imagined we would have been shortlisted, let alone win."

The competition is open until February 12 when a shortlist of entrants with the strongest retail potential will be selected.

Entries will be judged on innovation, commercial viability and relevance of the product to the local marketplace.

Entries to the Retail Factor can be made online at www.themall.co.uk/business/retailfactor or by completing a form available at The Mall's Ask Me Point, located outside M&S.

MUSIC

HANNAH MARCINOWICZ AND JOHN REID

Luton Library Theatre
Monday, January 30, 7.45pm

BACK by popular demand after a fine performance two years ago is saxophone player Hannah Marciniwicz, accompanied by John Reid on the piano.

The music you can expect to hear ranges from the 17th to the 21st centuries, and from the strictly classical - such as Bach and Telemann - to the refreshingly modern.

Since the saxophone was only invented in the 1840s, the earlier music in the concert has been rearranged, but the change of instrument often brings out aspects of the music which might otherwise go unnoticed.

Miss Marciniwicz went to the Purcell School, before graduating with first class honours from the Royal Academy of Music.

Since then, she has won numerous awards, including a Gold Medal from a French Conservatoire for her outstanding achievements in bringing the saxophone to the concert platform.

John Reid, who will be the accompanist for this concert, is noted for his championship of new music as well as his interpretation of the traditional concert repertoire.

Full details of the season can be found on the website www.lutonmusic.org.uk

Tickets are also available from Luton Library Theatre box office (01582 547474) or on the door.

Breakfast club

– with Heart FM's Stuart and Natalie

WE were hooked to the Golden Globes, mainly because with Ricky Gervais at the helm you never quite know what you're going to get.

In the end it was a lot less controversial than the headline grabbing performance he gave last year.

Ricky opened the ceremony with a list of rules he'd been given: "The Hollywood foreign press have warned me that if I insult any of you, or any of them, or offend any viewers or cause any controversy, they'll definitely invite me back next year.

"They gave me a list of rules – no profanity, that's fine I've got a huge vocabulary... no nudity – see that's a shame as I've got a huge... vocabulary.

"No smut or innuendo and I mustn't libel anyone and I mustn't mention Mel Gibson this year."

He went on to say: "The Golden Globes are to the Oscars what Kim Kardashian is to Kate Middleton – a bit louder, a bit trashier, a bit drunker and more easily bought."

He referred to Jonny Depp as the man who will 'Wear anything Tim Burton tells him to', before saying: "Who needs the Oscars? Not me and not Eddie Murphy. He said no and good for him, but when the man who says yes to Norbit says no to you – you know you're in trouble."

Stuart has said he thinks that after Ricky, the Globes need to get someone inoffensive – what about a Blue Peter presenter?

Have a look at all the pictures at www.heart.co.uk as well as Kelly Osborne's blue rinse, what was she thinking?

Don't miss our Who's On Heart competition each day. If you can identify our three secret celebrities you could win up to £50,000

COMPETITION

DO YOU enjoy curling up with a book next to a log fire during the cold, winter months? If so then this competition is for you.

The hugely successful TV Book Club is back on our screens.

Tune into More 4 on January 29 for the first episode, where hosts Dave Spikey, Laila Rouass, Caroline Quentin and Meera Syal will be returning to help you pick the best books to read this winter.

Throughout the ten-part series Dave, Laila, and Meera will be joined by celebrity guests to review ten titles, chosen by a team of TV Book Club experts, with viewers invited to read along.

To celebrate the new show, Specsavers Dunstable is giving away a set of ten books to Luton on Sunday readers, plus £150 worth of designer eyecare, including an eye examination, so that readers can enjoy their books while wearing the latest fashion frames.

The lucky winners can look forward to reading all ten books in the series: Before I Go To Sleep, SJ Watson; The Sisters Brothers, Patrick de Witt; The Somnambulist, Essie Fox; Into

To be in with a chance of winning this fabulous prize, simply answer the following question:

Which of the following is a presenter on the TV Book Club?

- a) Laila Rouass
- b) Myleene Klass
- c) Kelly Brook

To enter, send your answer to Specsavers Competition, 28 King Street, Luton, LU1 2DP, or email competitions@lutononsunday.co.uk by February 6, 2012.

Terms and Conditions

- One entry per household
- Specsavers TV Book Club books and eyecare voucher will be distributed by Beattie Communications and its partner agencies, on behalf of Specsavers

- This prize is non-transferable, cannot be exchanged and no cash alternative will be offered

FILM SEASON

The Alban Arena, St Albans
Throughout January

THE Alban Arena continues its fantastic film season with Anonymous (12A) screening on Wednesday at 1.30pm and 7.30pm.

It is a political thriller advancing the theory that it was in fact Edward De Vere, Earl of Oxford who penned Shakespeare's plays; set against the backdrop of the succession of Queen Elizabeth I, and the Essex Rebellion against her.

Following this on Thursday at 7.30pm is Sleeping Beauty (18); a haunting portrait of Lucy (Emily Browning), a young university student drawn into a mysterious hidden world of unspoken desires.

Also not to be missed is the family matinee on Saturday at 11am screening Puss In Boots (U). If you loved Shrek you'll love this - a fantastic adventure film following the heroic Puss In Boots long before he even met Shrek.

With tickets only £4 matinee and £6/£4 concessions for evening screenings, don't miss out on your chance to see these popular new releases.

For all the latest information, check the website at www.alban-arena.co.uk

Hartwell clears up the risks from frozen car windscreens this winter

- Motorists face stiff penalties and risk causing accidents by 'portholing' their car windscreen
- Car owners risk a police fine and invalidated insurance by leaving car unattended with engine running to defrost
- Ford's Quickclear® technology can help avoid both

Car retailer Hartwell is alerting motorists in Bedfordshire to the hazards which uncleared snow and ice can expose cars to. Drivers risk their car, driving licence and safety by failing to take simple steps to clear their vehicle windscreen in icy weather, warns the Ford retailer.

Hartwell Ford Dunstable is urging local car owners to 'warm up for winter' and properly manage their car maintenance and preparation for driving in cold and icy conditions as the weather forecast predicts more chilly days ahead.

Drivers who run the car engine to heat the windscreen but leave the vehicle unattended – known as 'frosting' – are committing an offence if the vehicle is left on a public highway. Although leaving a car running on a private driveway isn't breaking the law, it is a prime target for opportunistic thieves. According to insurance company estimates, around 2,000 cars are stolen each year when 'frosting', worth around £12.7m. Car insurance is usually invalidated if a policyholder leaves a vehicle with the keys in the ignition. While frustrated motorists often resort to using tools such as stiletto heels, CD cases, credit cards and even finger nails to scrape at stubborn ice, one in ten confesses to pouring a kettle of boiling water onto the windscreen, risking the screen cracking owing to the extreme temperature change.

Graham Betts, general manager of Hartwell, said: "Being able to clearly see where you are driving is perhaps the most obvious and basic safety requirement for motorists. Failing to take proper care to clear windscreens can have serious consequences not just for drivers, but for pedestrians and other road users too."

Technology offers a quicker and simpler solution. Ford developed their patented Quickclear system 26 years ago, which uses a mesh of very thin heating wires embedded between two layers of windscreen glass to provide rapid de-icing and defogging.

The simple push-button system clears windscreens in seconds, instantly freeing frozen wiper blades to reduce stress on the wiper motor. It is standard on all but 11 models in Ford's car range, from the Ka supermini to the Galaxy people carrier, more than a quarter of a century on from its debut on the Ford Scorpio.

For further information contact Hartwell Dunstable on tel 01582 443 500 or on-line at www.hartwell.co.uk

Pilks own goal is so tough on luckless Luton

BY LAUREN ARCHELL

lauren.archell@lutononsunday.com

A DESPERATELY unfortunate Kevin Pilkington own goal meant the Hatters took just one point after a magnificent comeback in this six-goal thriller at a windy Southport.

After going two down in the first half, Luton showed fantastic team spirit to get back into the game with goals from Danny Crow and Adam Watkins.

They even briefly took the lead through Aaron O'Connor but an unfortunate ricochet cannoned off Town's former Manchester United stopper to let Southport back in the contest.

"That wind was sent to try us," Pilkington said afterwards, adding: "We dug in, battled and come away with a good result. Three points would've been better but from two goals down we would've taken a point, especially in those conditions."

"With the first goal, the strike was going one way, I've dived to cover it and it has been taken eight yards from the other way by the wind."

"The third was an own goal and the first of my career, but I couldn't have done a lot differently."

"Despite that, the lads did well, it's a massive result for us and another point on the board."

Although the Hatters made a lively start to the game with an early chance from Watkins, it was the home side that scored first with a long range attempt in the ninth minute. The strong Merseyside wind had a part to play in the goal from Tony Gray, which saw the Hatters stopper dive to his right as the ball sailed into the middle of the goal from 20 yards out.

The pacy Vinny Mukendi wreaked havoc down the left wing throughout the first half and was able to double the lead for Southport in the 32nd minute. The loan signing from Macclesfield was given plenty of space to curl his shot into the top right corner after a tussle with George Pilkington which left the captain on the deck.

Just as the afternoon was starting to look bleak for the Hatters, Crow clawed one back 39 minutes in – the striker nodding in his ninth of the season from just two yards out after great build-up play from Jake Howells and Greg Taylor.

In first half stoppage time Watkins was on hand to level the scores.

Goalscorer turned provider spotting the midfielder tearing into the box and the youngster coolly struck home.

The Hatters came out all guns blazing in the second half, going ahead in the 47th minute.

A poor back pass from Simon Grand left O'Connor able to beat goalkeeper Tony McMillan to the ball, and force his resulting shot home.

But Luton couldn't hold onto their lead and a freak own goal from shot stopper Pilkington put the two teams level again.

A strike from Gray hit the far post and rebounded off the keeper's heel before rolling across the line.

Pilkington then did well to prevent Southport taking all three points ten minutes from time, tipping an attempt from Shaun Whalley just over the bar.

There was one last chance for the Town in the second minute of stoppage time when Crow was sent through by sub Amari Morgan-Smith, but was denied a winner when McMillan blocked his low shot.

The result means that the Hatters extended their unbeaten run to ten league games on the bounce, and although the side were not victorious they demonstrated some of the fight that will be needed to get out of this league.

Boss Brabin's blast ran into financial difficulties. The Terras' first team walked out in February and they had to complete the season with their Under-18 side, only managing to take one point resulting in relegation. The U's, however, lost out on automatic promotion by two points. "It really is unsettling," he said, adding: "I'm sure Wrexham, Fleetwood and Kidderminster are all looking at what would happen if they got points taken off them [this season]. It changes the whole shape of the league and I don't think that's fair."

McAllister signing means less stress

■ continued from back page that he won't now be forced into any late business unless absolutely necessary.

"It does take away that desperate edge. I don't like being in that position," the manager explained.

"Craig's was the only position we lacked. Between now and the end of the window, if someone does become available that might benefit our squad then we'll certainly look at pursuing that."

But with McAllister's arrival Luton may have to wave goodbye to Tommy Wright, though the former Crawley Town man is not responsible.

Brabin said: "Tommy's contract is up. He's been blighted with injury and we haven't been able to get him to the levels we've wanted."

"I'm speaking to him at the moment but his situation isn't why we've got Craig [pictured right]. They're completely different players."

With only nine days of the window left Brabin revealed he is still to receive any firm interest in his players.

"There hasn't been any calls of bids and I probably hear about most of the interest from you lot [press] when I read the papers or listen to the radio," he said.

TEAM ES Racing has revealed they will be running NGTC powered Vauxhall Vectras in the 2012 Dunlop MSA British Touring Car Championship.

The Luton-based squad who recently revealed Dave Newsham would be driving for the team in 2012 alongside team principal Chris James have managed to keep the deal under wraps until now.

James Nash took the Independent championship title in the Vectra for Triple Eight racing in 2011 and Team ES will be looking to emulate this success in 2012.

Talking of the announcement Chris James said: "They're race winning cars and they will continue to be highly competitive in 2012."

"We're delighted to get the deal concluded to run the Vectras and look forward to pushing hard at the start of the season."

"They come with a great spares package and a massive amount of data so we should be able to hit the ground running."

"We will get podiums and maybe even sneak more than that, certainly in the first half of the season."

"NGTC will get stronger but I truly believe that like football it will be a game of two halves – the first half will be S2000 and the second NGTC."

While James and Newsham have been announced for the team there is still a seat available for the season.

"There is still the option for us to run a third car so if the right driver with the right budget comes along then it will happen," said James.

Fans will be able to get their first taste of the Team ES Racing

Vectras at the BTCC Media day on Monday, March 19, at Silverstone when the circuit will be open to the public for the afternoon test session.

A LAST minute Russell Bull goal earned Barton Rovers their first win in five matches.

Both teams found the match a scrappy affair in windy conditions, but it was Rovers who were the stronger team throughout. And it was only the efforts of the Bedfont goalkeeper that made the outcome less straightforward than perhaps it should have been.

The home stopper was called into action twice in the early exchanges but was equal to both shots. The visitors continued to dominate however and finally got a reward for their persistence as Bull hit a beauty from 12 yards after Ricky Case's lay-off. That was to be the last kick of the 90 but the five minutes of stoppage time made it a nerve racking finale.

AFC's assured performance put them level on points with neighbours Dunstable Town.

Graeme Buchanan and Gareth Harnaman gave them an early lead but the hosts pulled one back with a free-kick before half-time.

But strikes from Carl Lincoln and Hayden Wills restored the lead and continued AFC's recent fine form.

A SECOND half fightback saw Dunstable Town come from two behind to rescue a point against Aylesbury United.

Early strikes gave the Ducks a half-time lead but Peter Holmes and Jonathan Cooper equalised for the Blues. United netted again before John Mulholland's late strike made it 3-3. Lee Roach almost snatched an unlikely victory in the last minute though his shot hit the side-netting.

VINNIE SHRIEVES bagged two goals as Crawley Green ran out comfortable winners.

The hosts started well, took the lead in the first 10 minutes then never looked back. Shrieves was the man who opened the scoring with a neat finish, one-on-one with the keeper. Lee Loasby then made it 2-0 soon after with a powerful header from a free-kick, before Shrieves completed the victory with a fluke just before half time.

An early effort by Alex Bennett put The 61 in front but Wayne CADDINGTON won 3-2 at Tring Corinthians thanks to a match winning display from Rob Saint.

Steve Harris and Ryan Douglas scored, both assisted by Saint, but Tring equalised before their goalscorer turned provider with a late winner.

LUTON 8

LUTON were left to rue a seventh yellow card in nine games for New Zealand centre Sam Collins as they fell to their 15th defeat of the season away to Bracknell.

Collins' ill-discipline costs Luton dear at Bracknell

Rick Hobbs and Jake Harris got on the scoresheet but it was another miserable afternoon for the Newlands Road outfit.

Luton dominated the first half but they failed to turn possession into points; an unconverted Hobbs try being all they could muster though they finished the first period on top.

After the break, Bracknell edged into a 6-5 lead thanks to two penalty kicks from Ben Nowack.

Collins then received a yellow card for a high tackle and his time in the sin-bin would cost Lutonians as the hosts took advantage by extending their lead with a Stewart Mackay try.

Hobbs kicked a penalty to reduce the arrears but Nowack wrapped up the points with a last minute penalty goal.

Luton boss Brabin slams crisis Conference clubs

BY JAMES CUNLIFFE
james.cunliffe@lutononsunday.com

GARY Brabin has hit out at clubs teetering on the edge of extinction and called for new guidelines to safeguard against financial problems in the middle of a season.

Darlington, currently experiencing their third period of administration in nine years, have had a tumultuous week in which their players and staff were told they no longer had jobs and the club would be liquidated before a last-minute £50,000 reprieve.

However, the cash injection only ensured a three-game stay of execution which began with yesterday's home match against title challengers Fleetwood.

It was also announced on Friday that Kettering will have three-points deducted if they fail to pay creditors by February 28 while a £3,000 fine has also been issued by the Football Conference for failing to pay players' wages.

But for the other 22 teams in the Blue Square Bet Premier there is nothing they can do but watch and wait – a situation which has sadly become all too familiar.

In 2010 Chester City were expelled from the league and all their results were expunged.

There is a real possibility that the same could happen this season with Luton already having scored 12 goals and taken nine points from three games against the two crisis clubs.

Brabin said: "It sickens me when I see things going on.

"I think there has got to be some sort of guideline before each season starts and a guarantee that teams can sustain what they're spending. You've got to take into consideration gates and revenue and people have got to delve deeper into each individual club. When you see some clubs who aren't getting a massive fan base but they're spending hundreds of thousands [of pounds] then I think they've got to guarantee that.

"Before the season starts, if you want to spend £1 million on players but your gates don't show that then there has got to be a bank account set up with that million in there as a guarantee. That's how strict I think it should be."

Even if Darlington and Kettering complete the season, both are the subject of transfer embargoes with reports suggesting that they only had 19 registered professionals between them for yesterday's games, with youth players making up the numbers.

As Brabin has experienced, that is a situation that can mean the difference between success and failure for a division's other clubs. While boss of Cambridge United in 2008/09, his side took four points off Weymouth before the Dorset side

TARGET: Jon Shaw

Shaw saga ends with McAllister capture

THE loan signing of striker Craig McAllister has put an end to Luton's hunt for Gateshead's Jon Shaw – for now.

The Hatters captured the 31-year-old Newport forward on Wednesday and manager Gary Brabin admitted that the deal will ease the pressure to panic buy as the January transfer closes.

But long-term target Shaw looks to have eluded the Town boss.

He said: "I keep getting asked about Jon Shaw and I don't think it's fair on the lad or Gateshead. In any walk of life, when you want something, you won't totally think it's gone and you'll always monitor it.

"We are not pestering Gateshead. They know of our interest. Everyone knows and if anything ever changes I'm sure they'll be the first to get in touch with us. We can't wait around forever for Jon Shaw. We have moved on and Craig gives us a different element.

"We'll never stop our search to improve the side."

Brabin raced to complete the signings of Stuart Fleetwood and now departed Collin Samuel in the last moments of the last transfer window, but he admitted

Coming soon... the Love Luton 2012 Festival

Whatever the outcome of the city status bid in February, the Love Luton brand will remain strong and continue celebrating the success of Luton and its people.

This will include the Love Luton 2012 Festival from 6-9 July 2012 which will coincide with the arrival of the Olympic Torch.

The unique weekend-long festival promises to be the most spectacular event in Luton's long and proud history.

The festival will be packed with a huge range of activities including big-name music concerts, a spectacular carnival parade, school games, fireworks displays, Mela activities along with a kaleidoscope of music, comedy and dance leading up to a special Olympic Torch celebration event.

Cllr Hazel Simmons, Leader of Luton Borough Council, said: "This will be the most extravagant weekend that Luton has ever seen and there will quite literally be something for everyone.

"With so much media interest in the Olympic Torch in the build-up to the London 2012 games, and huge numbers of people attending the many events that make up the festival, this is a once in a lifetime opportunity to correct misinformed perceptions and show a massive viewing audience just how great Luton is."

CONCERTS

One of the most exciting elements of the festival will be the two big music concerts on the Friday and Saturday evenings.

Over the next few weeks we will be announcing the line-ups for these concerts.

We can't give anything away yet, but expect some big name artists who are currently in the UK charts, combined with lots of local music talent. Tickets will go on sale soon. Details on the website, below.

CALLING ALL VOLUNTEERS

Would you like to meet new people, gain valuable work experience and improve your employment prospects, all while helping the local community?

We are looking to recruit 250 volunteers to be placed at key locations across the town throughout the festival period to help make it a successful and memorable event.

Love Luton 2012 Festival volunteers will steward, marshal, answer questions, give advice and be the welcoming smile to visitors during the festival.

SPONSORSHIP OPPORTUNITIES

There are plenty of opportunities for businesses to be official festival sponsors.

There are sponsorship packages to suit any type of budget.

Do not miss this golden opportunity!

The University of Bedfordshire has been announced as the first platinum sponsor of this summer's unique weekend-long festival that will coincide with the arrival of the Olympic Torch in Luton.

As a platinum sponsor, the University will also have trade and information stands in prime locations at the festival, advertising on the main concert stages, editorial in the weekend souvenir guide and a strong presence as part of the social media campaign.

Professor Les Ebdon CBE DL, Vice Chancellor of the University of Bedfordshire, said: "The University of Bedfordshire is thrilled to be a key part of Luton's biggest ever event. We have strong links with our local area and the Love Luton campaign, and we are delighted to sponsor a festival which will celebrate diversity and bring so many people together.

"The platinum sponsorship was an opportunity we couldn't turn down. We want to support our neighbours because the University and its students are at the very heart of the local community here and a key part of the local economy too. The plans for the weekend sound spectacular and we can't wait until July!"
